LISTED AT HARVARD

Two new steps into hitherto uninvolved fields of mathematics, which bring problems of infinity within reach of calculation, were described today at the Harvard bicentennial.

One of them is understood by only six of the world's mathematicians, and he Rudolf Carnap, professor of philosophy, Deutsche Universität, Prague, who told how the barrier to the unknown are being broken down.

Governor Wellford Hurt in Taxi Crash

Kansas City, Sept. 1 (AP)—Governor Walter Wellford of North Dakota was injured slightly in a taxi accident today, on the way to his airport to catch a northbound plane.

The Governor suffered head bruising and was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, where attendants said he probably was not serious.

KNOX WARNS NATION ON RED TRUGGLE IN EUROPE

AMERICA NEEDS TO RETURN TO DEMOCRACY, HE SAYS

ten, where the government was everything and every man works for the government.

"There is the Fascist system, where property is left to the individual, but is ruled with an iron hand by the government, which tells the worker what he must do, what wages he shall receive, and where he may work. It is the employer just as little liberty."

"Then there is the democratic system, as in England, where power is left in the hands of the people. That is the objective of this campaign, and it deeply concerns the people."

Colonel Knox further warned the crowd of the danger of the present administration, which he said was in the hands of a few men.

"When it went into office there were 12,000,000 unemployed. Today, according to their own figures, there are between 11,000,000 and 12,000,000 unemployed."

"That is the sad state of the administration's recovery program. The administration has failed. It is now up to the Republican Party of Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas to take over leadership."

"BUSINESS AFFAIR"

Changing the subject to new steel to expand, Knox said: "The steel industry is the backbone of the Republican Party. It will be the backbone of the American economy. The government can't get out of work permanently. As Governor Landon says, there is no future for the American on the dole."

"We don't pretend that we have any secret scheme. We merely propose to observe the known economic laws. You can't force business back by tinkering with the currency, by cracking down on business, by inducing to new experiments."

"Business is now afraid to expand. We want a government that will give it confidence in the future."

Knox Hits Ruin In Deal Theory

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 1 (AP)—The "deal" theory of the "ruining the country with its debt and inflation" which the President's administration is now pursuing, Knox said today in his campaign speech at New Haven, Conn., was a "deal" theory of ruin.

AWAKENING OF LABOR

"The Republic is in a state of awakening," Knox said today in his campaign speech at New Haven, Conn., "and it is the duty of every citizen to awaken the Republic."

high-Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, said Knox.

"The primary issue of the campaign is the basis of free enterprise, which our forefathers fought for when they came to this country."

"In government as in economics, there are two distinct schools or types: one is the executive and the other is the visionary, which this country has always had."

"However, with the coming of the depression, we found a new type of government, which gave the government all the powers of the executive and the visionary, which this country has always had."

"We found the present administration establishing itself in this country, but never before given any of the powers of the executive and the visionary, which this country has always had."

"The NHA was formed and quickly collapsed. The business men found themselves either faced with disaffection or going out of business."

"Colonel Knox then listed the following points in his address:

"First, the administration has failed. It is now up to the Republican Party of Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas to take over leadership."

5000 IN LYNN HALT PLANTS

Shaw, Worcester, in Lynn were held today from 10 a. m. to 11 p. m. 3000 workers were opening a strike against the company.

Meetings were held in OMA Plaza, and others. The workers were addressed by William H. Mahan, general organizer of the United Shoe and Leather Workers Union, and William E. Thurston, president of the Lynn Union Council.

Just before the OMA Plaza Hall meeting, Thurston started a man and a woman passing out Communist literature.

The workers adopted a resolution demanding immediate dismissal of Arthur W. Latham, industrial secretary of the Lynn Chamber of Commerce, declaring if he were not dismissed the workers would refuse to trade with stores affiliated with the Chamber.

It is alleged Latham formed a company union at the Lynn plant, where there were several months ago, and that he attempted to form a similar union at the Phillips Revere Shoe Company.

Ann Ayer Makes Debut at Tea On Parents' Wenham Estate

By BETTY ALDEN

THE DEBS COME into their own today, and however happily they may part with summer and all its happy pastimes, they do get a thrill out of realizing that from now until Christmas the social spotlight will be focused upon them.

Ann Ayer starts the ball rolling by making her debut this afternoon at a large tea at Ledyard Farm, the Wenham estate of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ayer.

The party takes place both indoors and out on the spreading lawns, with Mrs. Ayer and her daughter standing to receive on a low dais platform erected on the grass, and bordered with pine boughs and summer flowers.

The debutante, who was practically born to the saddle and looks more natural in trim riding clothes than in party frocks, has come feminine for her debut and has chosen a gown of purple blue with a gold fleck through it, to enhance her pretty blonde hair. Mrs. Ayer's lighter blue gown is of a sheer material.

Ann has two house guests here for the occasion. Jean Bowman of New York and Margie Reed of Lake Forest, Illinois, both of whom are pouring at the tables. The other newcomers are Marjorie Motley, Betty McKean, Virginia Ward, Hope Dwyer and Marjorie Heard.

Ann has already been hostess at several small dinner parties preceding the largest dances of the summer, and on October 10 she will be honored at a dinner given by her aunt, Mrs. Keith Merrill, Katharine Ayer at Avalon, the Merrill's Princes Crossing summer home.

Whole Polfey Family of Finals

MR. AND MRS. MERRILL took their sub-club daughter Rosemary to the Longwood Cricket Club yesterday afternoon to witness the finals in the National Doubles Tournament. They occupied a box near Mr. Roger Cutler.

It was a disappointing afternoon for Boston's tennis fans who have such fondness and admiration for Sarah Polfey. For Sarah and her famous partner, Helen Jacobs, lost their championship in the doubles to Mrs. John Van Ryn and Carolyn Babcock in a hard fought match.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gorman Polfey were in their accustomed seats high up in the grandstand to watch Sarah play, and her younger brother and sister, John and Joanna, watched from the players' stand. They were pretty grim expressions when they realized that Sarah and Helen's defeat seemed inevitable, but displayed the famous Polfey good sportsmanship when the match was over and smilingly claimed that they couldn't have a champion in the family any more.

As David N., the umpire, announced the points, through the little muck on his lapel, his voice came over the loud speaker clearly and strongly, though his friends told him later they wouldn't have recognized it if they hadn't seen him sitting up on his high stand at the end of the net.

Hunnells Well Represented
A LOOK AT THE crowd of spectators made one think of Old Home Week on the North Shore. Caroline Hammond of Marblehead watched the games from a good vantage point with Russell Colman, Jr., of Manchester. Caroline's family is just recovering from last week's busy program of entertainments for the lawyers and their wives who attended the American Bar Association convention here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Winnthrop of Manchester had a box at Longwood and Nat's mother, Mrs. Frederick Winnthrop, visited from one box to another with friends.

E. Solter Wolf of West Manchester discussed laws and vetoes with some of his North Shore neighbors. Elio Sears sported a tailored white jacket as a change from her tannish cardigan and Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Sears, Jr., who have just returned from Europe, were in the gallery with their eldest daughter, "Sister".

The Seares were all very proud of their kinsman, Richard Dudley Sears, first national lawn tennis champion of this country, who was the guest of honor at yesterday's events and had a special seat at the right of the umpire during the men's doubles match. Mr. and Mrs. Elio, and father of Richard D. Sears, Jr., whose wife is a very attractive, tall red-headed girl, a former Baltimore society girl.

Wears Suit of French Blue Linen
MRS. CHARLES HONEY of Marblehead was a beaming sight of French blue linen with a felt hat combining the same blue with a darker shade trim. Dottie McAusland, one of last winter's debs, wore a cozy looking honeycomb shetland sweater and skirt.

Catherine DeForest wore an old fashioned chaise print in a new fashioned dress and was accompanied by her sister, Cornelia, and Elsie Brewster who was all in white with a jade green sash.

Jane Donald was seen with some of her friends, including in-law of Sarah Polfey, Fayhan. Mrs. Leslie Dale of Dedham, with her daughters, Anne and Evelyn. Joe Woods. Sam Houghton. Mrs. William Rees Pratt in a very good looking outfit of navy blue with dusty pink. Mrs. James Cunningham Gray, Jr., Mrs. Paul Rust and Mrs. Francis Shaw, Jr., all of the North Shore. Mrs. Arthur Bull. Mrs. Delano Wight. Barbara Coffin, up from Duxbury and very pretty in her powder blue tulle suit. Mrs. Howard Shaw Warren and Mrs. John Nutter, Jr., (Barbara Warren) a recent bride.

Jean Tuckerman Homeward Bound
JEAN TUCKERMAN sailed for home last Saturday after a long summer vacation abroad, and will be back at her family's home in Columbia in time to take in the festive wedding of John Chapin and Dick Watter's wedding on the 19th. Jean is in the one of the large cortege of bridesmaids in the wedding.

MRS. JOSEPH B. HOYT, JR.

MRS. JOSEPH B. HOYT, JR., of Beverly Farms, and her sub-deb daughter, Joanna Seabury Hoyt, are just as nice as they are attractive and make a congenial twosome at most of the fashionable North Shore gatherings during the summer. They both lead helping hands to all sorts of charity fairs and parties when they feel their efforts are helping a worthwhile institution.

Cannon-McDonald Bridal in Brighton Church

CLUSTERS of white asters and gladioli trimmed the long aisle of St. Columbkille's Church in Brighton for this morning's wedding of Marietta McDonald and Dr. Leo Cannon of Cambridge. Rev. Thomas Fay, S. J., formerly of Boston College, performed the 10:30 ceremony which was followed by breakfast and reception at the Longwood Towers.

John C. McDonald gave his daughter in marriage. The bride wore a period gown of white satin edged with tulle. Her veil of tulle fell from a tiny cap of moire and she carried a mosaic prayer book from which fell orange blossoms.

Proceeding the bride attended Mrs. McDonald's wedding. The bride was escorted by her brother, Dr. Leo Cannon, and her sister, Mrs. Mary Louise McDonald. The bride was escorted by her brother, Dr. Leo Cannon, and her sister, Mrs. Mary Louise McDonald. The bride was escorted by her brother, Dr. Leo Cannon, and her sister, Mrs. Mary Louise McDonald.

The bride is the former Miss Camille Louise Ireland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Franklin Ireland of Mattapa. She was graduated from the New England Conservatory of Music last June. Mr. Cannon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ehrlich of New York City. He was graduated from Cornell University in 1925, studied at Duke and received a degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Harvard in 1929. Later he had a two-year travelling fellowship in Europe. He is a member of Gamma Alpha, Sigma Delta, Chi and Phi Kappa Phi.

Mr. Allen Ireland Hatch was the best man at the wedding, while Dr. Leo Cannon, a brother of the bride, and Mr. Kenneth Chester of Princeton, N. J., acted as ushers.

Ringler, Auto Racer, Dies
Philadelphia, Sept. 1 (AP)—Harvey Ringler, 36, a pioneer automobile race driver, died last night. He was prominent in the Elit as a driver in 1910-15.

The women are also doing their bit by helping to swell the funds of the blue chest committee. Active in the group are Mrs. Francis Shaw, Mrs. Bert Kellum, Mrs. Thomas Dwyer, Mrs. Edward Harvey, Mrs. James V. Quinan and Mrs. Michael Finerty.

The close of the racing meet at Saratoga held an attraction for Mrs. J. M. Givins and her daughter, Kathleen. They were registered at the Grand Hotel Hotel. They are enroute to Washington. On their return they will spend a few days.

Bound for Virginia Beach is Helen Lally of Dorchester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Lally. She is in the cortege of St. Patrick Altar of Roxbury.

Knock-Knock Contest Due to Go On and On

SO MUCH FUN, EDITOR JUST CAN'T QUIT

Knock-knock fairs are expected to show loudly today over the announcement that the Knock-Knock Contest will be continued indefinitely and will not end tomorrow or any other day that is immediately visible.

With thousands of knock-knocks pouring in every day, the office boys are having too much fun with this letter-opening machine to spoil it now.

You put a handful of letters on the machine and they come skittering out the other side, like machine-gun bullets, and they are all neatly aligned on the knife edge.

So keep on sending your knock-knocks to the Knock-Knock Editor of the Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop square, Boston, with five $2 cash awards to go daily to winners, as well as 10 pairs of guest tickets to the thrilling historic film, "The Last of the Mohicans," which opens Friday at the Loew's State and Orpheum theaters.

Be sure, however, to have your knock-knocks plainly written, on C.N.E. side of the paper—nothing less than original and as humorous as best.

Winners of today's $2 cash awards are:

Lorraine Barker, Entaw street, East Boston. "Knock, knock. 'Who's there?' 'Weather!' 'Who's there?' 'Fu Manchu who?' 'Diamond the old mill stone'."

John P. Hester, Lexington street, East Boston. "Knock, knock. 'Who's there?' 'Weather!' 'Who's there?' 'Fu Manchu who?' 'Diamond the old mill stone'."

Betty O'Donnell South Main street, Gardner. "Knock, knock. 'Who's there?' 'Weather!' 'Who's there?' 'Fu Manchu who?' 'Diamond the old mill stone'."

Ask Coolidge Or Curley as School Name

Name is the Roxbury school, says Florence B. Greig, in a letter to the School Name Ballot Editor today.

She doesn't explain, however, whether "Rox" is an abbreviation of Roxbury or whether she wishes to honor the one-time radio master of ceremonies.

One of a number of today's ballots for the name, Calvin Coolidge school, is accompanied by a brief note urging that the school committee "honor the name of one up-right man."

Also in today's mail is a letter from a staunch Governor Curley supporter, who writes:

By all means honor the name of James M. Curley. He was born in Roxbury, educated, married in Roxbury, lived for Roxbury and made Roxbury famous. He has done more for Roxbury than Governor Curley.

Still they pour in, these suggestions for the naming of Roxbury's new school building at Eliot square.

Leading in the poll today are the three names originally proposed: John Eliot school, John L. Gleason school, and William L. Pinney school.

Put YOUR choice on record today. Clip the Roxbury School Name Ballot blank which you'll find on this page of today's Boston Evening American.

Fill it out, according to the printed directions.

Then mail or bring your ballot to the School Name Ballot Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop square, Boston.

Blaze in Malden Tangles Traffic

Traffic on Main street, Malden, was tangled for an hour today when fire swept the homes of Clarence R. Norris, deep-sea diver, and Charles H. Mursell, in home court, Danvers was estimated at $150.

The fire was caused by sulphur candles used in each of the homes to exterminate sand fleas, police said.

VINES PICKS PERRY, BUDGE FOR U. S. TENNIS FINAL

BREAKS WILL DETERMINE VICTORY

5. DUNSWORTH VINTS

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Fred Perry, Great Britain's Number One man of world tennis, and Donat Budig, the current California comet, look to be unbestable for the national singles tennis championships at Forest Hills, beginning on Thursday.

If these two men come through to the finals—and there appears no reason why they shouldn't—it will be a grand battle to the finish with the breaks most likely deciding the outcome. Perry would like him to stampede Rudge into hurrying his shots while Bishop's deep forehead drives to Perry's backhand corner, may use the Englishman plenty of home builders.

The American Federation of Labor has issued an estimate that this business journal says that 1,329,606 new homes should be built this year.

There was some expansion of the business in cotton, wool and machinery during early August. In the mailing period, the cotton crop became more numerous in all divisions, however, the wool was not so good for bolstering dwindling stocks.

The current strong position of cotton textile industry and the American Wool Growers Association are expected to lift 1956 prices for wool. The American Wool Growers Association expects square yards, according to an estimate made by the Association for the month of March, to be 100,000,000.

Wool prices should be about on a par with the three high years in the past. The wool market is still shaky and doubtful, but will be reached by the end of the year. The cotton goods production in the 1955-56 season was 1,350 million yards each year until 1949, and then it was 1,400 million yards.

This is the essence of good government. The people's needs will be satisfied, and the economy will be revived.

Increased Demand

During the increased demand for housing, the President has urged the better plan of meeting the need by increasing the power of the average home owner to build his own business. The prospect of high prices and the possibility of a crash have led the inventors to increase advance commitments to build homes. The result has been the more definite trend toward general improvement.

The President has urged the more complete use of the resources available to the nation. He has urged the more complete use of the resources available to the nation. He has urged the more complete use of the resources available to the nation.

have been completed by Don Hindmiller, Inc., and started to rise at a rapid rate in March, gained significant acceleration in April. The fund's assets rose a volume of 10 per cent in a month of that month, and it was up 20 per cent in a year. From the start of 1935, from some of the communities, volume was up 30 per cent in a year. The fund's immediate and full bookkeeping was completed in June. The fund's income during June and July practically exhausted the fund's assets, and the fund was left with a small balance in the fund's assets.

that a rash of orders in whole for the Fall and Winter months will bring the total to about 40 per cent larger than a year ago, helped by the definite signs of a better quality of expenditure.

The tightness of the mail delivery is also being felt, and it is impossible to meet these mounting demand post-war standards and exact and work like.

inter-trade interchange between the two countries. The agreement, which among other things prohibits the use of discounts on the basis of the competitive price advice, German experts had expected to be a first step toward wiping out tending to reduce the number of four-digit export companies that had to be in discountable industries. "The agreement is not a 'supermarket,' it adds. The price action may result also in some reduction in our export trade volume."
